Mama Dragons Board of Directors Member

About Mama Dragons

Every day, a mother somewhere opens a message from her child and has to decide what to do next. Mama Dragons is here for that moment.

We are one of the few parent-led mothers' groups that is also a national 501(c)(3). For more than 25,000 mothers of LGBTQ+ children, we offer a private, vetted network of women who have been where they are, QPR suicide prevention training, and an on-demand catalog of classes. Those classes run from basic LGBTQ+ ally information to gender-specific care, with advocacy training and self-care support along the way. We partner with hundreds of organizations so that no mother has to figure this out alone.

The Role

We are looking for new members of our Board of Directors. This is a governance board. You will provide oversight, strategic direction, and accountability, and help safeguard the trust that thousands of families place in us. Our staff and volunteers carry out the day-to-day work. Your job is to make sure the organization is strong, sound, and wise enough to keep doing it.

Who We're Looking For

You do not need to be the parent of an LGBTQ+ child. You do need real cultural competence and genuine relationships in the LGBTQ+ community, built over time through listening, showing up, and being accountable to the people you care about. Parents, LGBTQ+ people, and others who bring that depth are all welcome. We want a board that reflects the breadth of the families we serve across faith traditions, races, regions, and identities.

We especially need strength in:

- Finance and audit
- Law and data privacy
- Mental health and suicide prevention
- Technology and online community safety
- Communications
- Partnerships
- Human resources
- Development and fundraising, or connections you can bring to the table

Prior board experience is helpful but not required. If you bring the expertise, we would still love to talk.

Time Commitment

The board meets quarterly, with committee meetings in between. Once a year, the board gathers for a retreat focused on building cohesion and shaping our strategic plan.
